

Wednesday, 13 August 2008

MondayTuesdayWednesdayThursdayFridaySaturday

A green outing for orphans

PRINT

EMAIL

Orphans went "green" at the Forest Research Institute.

KUALA LUMPUR: Thirty orphans went for a stroll at the the Forest Research Institute of Malaysia (FRIM) recently.

The orphans, of Rumah Keluarga Kami, were introduced to the Green Computing Concept.

The programme, "Making Going Green a fun experience" was jointly organised by Mesiniaga and MIND.

It also gave children the opportunity to mingle with Information Technology staff and a career insight in the IT industry.

Among the speakers were Hazreen Mansor of Mesiniaga, Lim Fun Jin of ISA Technologies and Jayan Arunasalam of Microsoft Malaysia.

The children were later treated to an exciting time on FRIM's Canopy Walk.

The orphanage also received a laptop computer, an Internet access line and Windows Vista software.